PROTECT OUR FORESTS

Among the West's priceless treasures are the vast forests that mantle the hills and mountains of California. This handiwork of Nature patiently fashioned over hundreds and even thousands of years is a thing of rare beauty, a protection to the soil, a source of great wealth.

But every summer and fall thousands of acres are burned over leaving blackened areas of scarred trees and stumps. If these fires were completely unavoidable that would be regrettable enough, but even worse is the fact that most of them are started by the carelessness of campers and vacationists.

This year the manpower to guard against and fight forest fires is at a very low ebb due to the drain of war demands. Every person, therefore, who lives near forest areas or who visits them should be vigilant in reporting fires he observes and, above all, to use utmost care with matches, cigarettes and campfires.

It takes only a second to break a match in two after using it and to make certain that it is completely out. It takes no longer to thoroughly stamp out a cigarette, while a minute devoted to pouring water on a campfire about to be deserted or heaping dirt over it is time well spent.

Yes, California's forests are beautiful—let us keep them that way.

ATLANTIC "COMMUTERS"

Do you remember in the late 20's when plane after plane flew over the Atlantic—and vanished—in the effort to fly non-stop from the United States to Britain or the continent?

The many failures made the success of Captain Charles Lindbergh all the more sensational when he flew alone from New York to Paris on May 20 and 21, 1927, to gain undying and unhappy fame.

In those days, transocean flights were attempted only during the summer when weather forecasts indicated favorable flying conditions.

Now after 17 years it is interesting to note the advances made in the art—or business—of hopping the Atlantic. The weather isn't so much of a handicap any more. Last winter the Army Air Transport Command made hundreds of flights east and west across the North Atlantic without the loss of a single plane. About 600 round trips a month are now being made over the Atlantic by the ATC.

Seventeen years ago it took Lindbergh about 36 hours for his flight. Today a B-29 could probably make the same trip and return non-stop in considerably less time.

How fast will it be flown 17 years from now?

"DREAM" HOUSES—A DREAM?

Are the post-war "dream" houses just a dream?

For a long time we have been hearing about the revolutionary building methods that would create new homes virtually overnight—homes that would include many novel designs for heating, lighting and air conditioning.

Now a campaign is being waged by an association of home builders to debunk the dream house stories. It is pointed out that new materials and construction designs must be tested over a period of years to determine their serviceability.

This does not mean that improvements in home building methods will not be introduced, but the buliders do not visualize any radical changes in the period immediately following the war.

Whether Mr. and Mrs. Public will want to stay with the conventional type of home construction or will prefer to try some of the unusual materials and designs for their new homes is difficult to determine now. But one way or the other, all indications point to an unprecedented post-war building boom. The vast accumulations of individual savings in War Bonds and bank accounts, the virtual nonexistence of home building in the past several years, and the huge reservoir of bank credit ready to aid home buyers and builders—these are the major factors.

It is not at all improbable that California will lead the nation in this home building program. The two-million population increase has created a tremendous housing demand, and the home financing facilities are unexcelled through the statewide service of branch banking.

It may be that "dream" houses are only a dream, but nothing will stop the family that wants a new home from dreaming about it—while they save their money to make that dream come true.

ACCENT ON CURVES

QUITE a bit of glitter and the drama of striped satin combine to make such glamorous New York fashions for dinner and evening as the dress pictured. The long, moulded bodice with its deep neckline and the semi pegtop skirt slit to the knee give a two-piece look to this slim Fall gown with the pink and black of the satin scalloped in sequin embroidery. Contrasting with such styles are short and long nighttime dresses made entirely of the striped satin and along wide-skirted lines, and cocktail dresses with crepe bodices and striped satin skirts.

THE little black dress for next season is styled, more often than not, with some such apron effect as in this simple crepe style, its skirt trimmed with a deep V of the fabric, neatly stitched in place. Other black basics in wool or crepe are banded around the hips with satin, some in middy suggestion and others with a peplum flare. Fullness in most of the skirts is in the center back below the waistline, or, the skirts are draped to the side in front. Necklines are high and round or they are slashed in shallow or deep V's. Many sleeves are short, a new note for Winter, or stop at bracelet length.

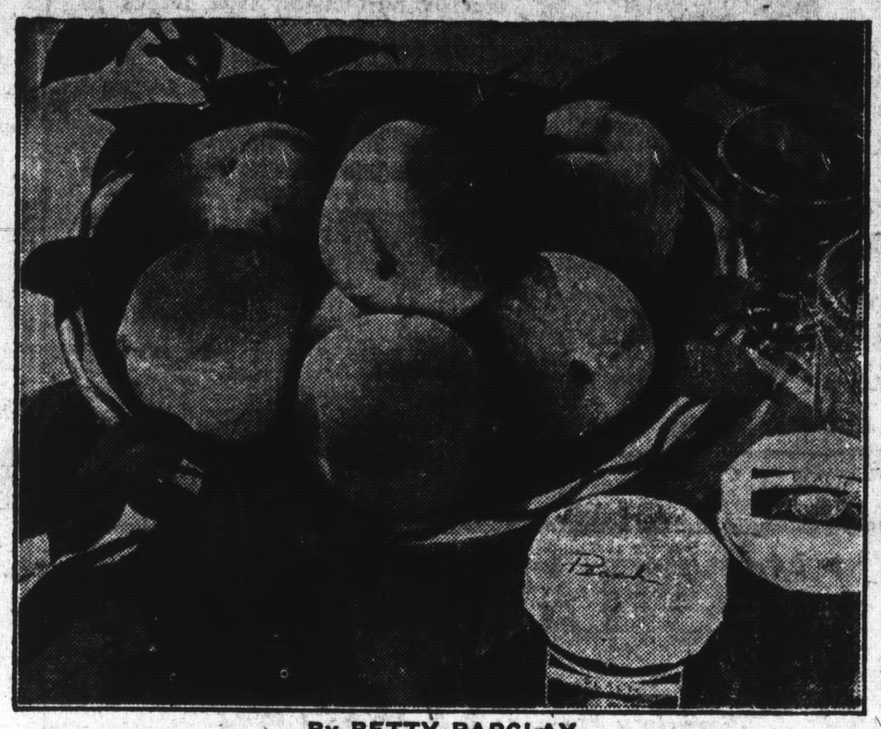
ABOUT PEACHES



By BETTY BARCLAY

In Biblical times it was a sign of being wisely prepared to have one's lamps always in readiness — the vessels filled with oil and the wicks trimmed to produce a steady light.

Even today when we apply the quaint old phrase, "good provider" to a homemaker, it is used in the highest praise. For she is a woman who is equal to any household emergency — which means that she undoubtedly has a well-stocked jam and jelly cupboard.

Now that the peach season is here again, she is doubly proud of her resourcefulness, for this golden fruit is truly a royal fruit and worthy of the very best treatment. To retain the rich, luscious flavor of peaches, make sure that the fruit is fully ripe and add natural fruit pectin. The short-boil method of jelly making means half-again more glasses and a perfect "set." If these directions are carefully followed, you'll be assured of perfect results:

Ripe Peach Jelly
(Makes about 9 medium glasses)
3 cups juice
6½ cups sugar
1 bottle fruit pectin

To prepare juice, remove pits from about 3½ pounds fully ripe peaches. Do not peel. Crush peaches thoroughly. Add ½ cup water.

Bring to a boil, cover, and simmer 5 minutes. Place fruit in jelly cloth or bag and squeeze out juice.

Measure sugar and juice into large saucepan and mix. Bring to a boil over hottest fire and at once add bottled fruit pectin, stirring constantly. Then bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard ½ minute.

Remove from fire, skim, pour quickly. Paraffin hot jelly at once.

Ripe Peach Jam
(Makes about 8 medium glasses)
3½ cups prepared fruit
4½ cups sugar
1 box powdered fruit pectin

To prepare fruit, peel about 2½ pounds fully ripe peaches; pit and grind or crush thoroughly.

Measure sugar into dry dish and set aside until needed. Measure prepared fruit into a 5- to 6-quart kettle [illegible] up last cup or fraction o[illegible] with water if necessary.

Place over hottest fire. Add powdered fruit pectin, mix well, and continue stirring until mixture comes to a hard boil. At once pour in sugar, stirring constantly. (To reduce foaming, ¼ teaspoon butter may be added.) Continue stirring, bring to a full rolling boil, and boil hard 1 minute.

Remove from fire, skim, pour quickly. Paraffin hot jam at once.

Mrs. America Meets The War

When budgeting her red points for buying meats and fats, Mrs. America may now add ten more. Red stamp D5 in War Ration Book Four became valid, August 13, making a quota of 40 red points for the ration period July 30 to September 2. Red stamps A8 through Z8 and A5 through D5 are now good indefinitely.

And here's some good news for meat-lovers. Utility grades of beef and lamb are now point-free! These lower grades are just as nourishing and appetizing as the choicer more expensive grades, but do require more cooking. Since utility beef has less fat, it should be cooked slowly and with some moisture to draw out its rich flavor.

The points you can save by buying beef and lamb will enable you to treat that hungry breakfast crowd to ham and eggs. Ham has gone back on the ration list, because of the seasonal decline in pork production and more purchases by the Army and Navy. Cuts from pork loin also now require red points. Point values range from four to eight points a pound for various cuts of loin roasts and chops and from two to eleven points a pound for ham. The popular boneless slices of ham are nine points a pound, while a whole or half ham is five.

If your grocer has been sold out of your favorite canned sea-food lately, you'll be glad to know that he should soon be getting more in stock. Point values have been restored so that the relatively small supply of the new pack which has been set aside for civilians will be distributed evenly throughout the year. The more popular varieties—such as shrimp, tuna and salmon—now require six points for a pound.

If cheese is on your shopping list today, remember that point values of all rationed varieties were increased, August 13. Cheddar cheese now takes 12 points a pound instead of 10. Swiss cheese —for that lunch box favorite "swiss-on-rye" — is eight red points a pound instead of four.

Worried because your sugar bowl is almost empty? Then here is some welcome news. Beginning September 1, sugar stamp No. 33 in War Ration Book Four will be good for five pounds of sugar. A sugar stamp is validated every two and a half months. Stamps 30, 31 and 32 are now good for five pounds each.

Price-Conscious Mrs. America, who is expecting a visit from the stork, may thank the OPA and the War Production Board for the low-priced maternity dresses and slips she will soon be able to buy. WPB has allocated the material and OPA has set dollar-and-cent ceiling prices on these two items. Dresses will sell for $1.89 in stores which buy directly from the manufacturer and $2 in other stores. Slips will have a ceiling of $1.05 or $1.15.

BASIC BLACK IS VERSATILE

THE neatly cut basic black dress worn by CBS actress Sarah ("Mrs. Miniver") Burton is especially designed for the very slender girl. The small ruffled collar of the same black material gives a soft neckline, and the three tucks just below the shoulder create a flattering fullness.

CHRISTMAS MAILING OVERSEAS

Last year many thousands of our boys on foreign battlefields had a pretty bleak Christmas. Too many were not remembered by their families at home, and almost as many others lost the joy of knowing they were much in the thoughts of their loved ones by not receiving gifts which were carefully selected but carelessly mailed.

Delay and loss were caused by those who waited too late to mail packages, wrapped them insecurely, addressed them incorrectly or forgot the rules on the size of parcels and on dangerous or damaging items prohibited from overseas mail. The boys in the camps here at home can have just as forlorn a Christmas as those abroad, if they are not remembered; however, the time is not so short for domestic mailing.

It's time now to begin thinking about Christmas packages for members of the armed services overseas. In order to insure delivery early and in good order, Postmaster General Walker has announced that such packages must be mailed between September 15 and October 15. He recommends strict adherence to these mailing rules so that loved ones overseas may not be disappointed:

1. Addresses of the sender and addressee should be written inside the package as well as outside in case the outside wrapper is lost.
2. Containers made of metal, wood or fibreboard are preferable.
3. Parcels must not exceed five pounds, nor be more than 15 inches in length or 36 inches in length and girth combined.
4. "Christmas parcel" should be plainly marked on the outside.
5. One sender may mail no more than one parcel per week to the same addressee.
6. Perishable goods, intoxicants, inflammable materials and anything that may damage other mail may not be sent.

Those rules should be clipped and saved by all who intend to send Christmas presents to members of the armed services overseas. And practically every one of us, even if we have no members of our immediate family in uniform, can think of somebody whose Christmas will be brighter because we remembered.

Americans are showing patriotism by purchasing War Bonds to help finance the war. It's patriotic, too, to keep your car in good operating condition in these days of transportation difficulties. And it's sensible to bring it here when it needs care, adjustment or repairs.
